Of the genus Gasterotem is the three-spined stickle-back, Banstickle, or Sharplin (G. spinulosus); it is 2 or 3 inches long. This fish has a curious habit of building a nest. It collects little pieces of stick and fibres, which it fastens together, leaving the inside hollow for the reception of its eggs. The task of making the nest and depositing the eggs is said to occupy one day only, and the male fish watches assiduously over the eggs and young fry. About a month intervenes until the young emerge from the nest. The Grey Mullet (Mugil capito) inhabits estuaries on the coast, and in summer is found in muddy bottoms of rivers, so that it is partly a fresh-water fish. It is well known as a delicacy for the table on the south coast. They are often taken with the rod,...
