Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1909 edition. Excerpt: . . . it thoroughly clear to you--this is one of the strangest, most disquieting of truths--is it thoroughly clear to you that, if there be evil in your heart, your mere presence will probably proclaim it today a hundred times more clearly than would have been the case two or three centuries ago Is it fully borne home to you that if you have perchance this morning done anything that shall have brought sadness to a single human being, the peasant, with whom you are about to talk of the rain or he storm, will know of it---his soul will have been warned even before his hand has thrown open the door Though you assume the face of a saint, a hero or a martyr, the eye of the passing child will not greet you with the same unapproachable smile if there lurk within you an evil thought, an injustice or a brothers tears. A hundred years ago the soul of that child would perhaps have passed, unheeding, by the side of yours. Truly it is becoming difficult to cherish hatred, envy, or treachery in ones heart, secure from observation; for the souls even of the most indifferent are incessantly keeping vigil around us. Our ancestors have not spoken of these things, and we realize that the life in which we bestir ourselves is quite other than that which they have depicted. Have they deceived us, or did they not know Signs and words no longer...
