Is it the daredevil who leaps a chasm in the hope that they can reach the dangling chain and strike the head cultist before they can finish their unholy ritual? Or is it the careful planner, who skulks in the shadows assessing the dangers around the demonic altar, sets up a trap and, with a clever ruse, tricks the cultist into it? Is a good adventurer the loner who fights a personal crusade against evil or the loyal friend who lays down his life to give his friends a fighting chance in their darkest hour? There are as many definitions of âadventurerâ as there are...
